Layers of security for repositories;
onion services, privacy, and intellectual freedom in the scholarly commons

Kevin Sanders
kjsanders@riseup.net
Research Support Manager
University of West London
Repositories and freedom

Discoverable
Accessible
Discrimination
Repositories and responsibilities

User communities
Diversity
Distribution
Technical options / cultural issues
Security

Institutional repositories

Subject repositories

HTTPS

Security AND privacy
Repositories and intellectual privacy

IP
User-side methods; VPNs
Tor onion services
How open is open?
International access, politics, and privacy

Cambri dge University Press

New York Times / Facebook etc.
practicality and impracticality

REF
RCUK etc.

Technical ability and access
EOTK

The Enterprise Onion Toolkit

hello
onion
Welcome to UWL Repository

UWL Repository is a digital archive of research, scholarly and enterprise output produced by University of West London staff and research students.

To begin depositing material, in a modern, up-to-date web browser (we are aware of issues with Internet Explorer, so would recommend other browsers such as Firefox, Brave or Chrome.) select Login from the menu and enter your University username and password. For more information about open access, please see the information provided under the Author Guidance tab. For guidance on the deposit process, see the How to Deposit page.

Open access, REF requirements, research data management, digital identity, and impact assessment support is offered via drop-in sessions. These are currently held at St. Mary's Road in Library Meeting Room 1 (Floor 2) every Tuesday between 10-11am, and every other Wednesday at Paragon between 2-3pm. The Repository Team can also be contacted at library@uwl.ac.uk.

To view the UWL Open Access blog please click here.

Obtaining an ORCID ID will allow you to standardise your author name and bring all your research together. These IDs are now mandatory for many funders and the UWL Publications Policy requires researchers to sign up for an ID. The simplest way to sign-up is to click on the Manage ORCID Permission tab once logged into UWL Repository. From here you can click on the "Create or Connect your ORCID ID" button.

If you already have an ID, please also click on the Manage ORCID Permission tab once logged into UWL Repository and then the “Create or Connect your ORCID ID” button. Once you have granted permissions for reading and writing between ORCID and the UWL Repository, you will have two new buttons in your Manage deposits area, "Import from orcid.org" and "Export to orcid.org". These allow you to push and pull descriptive records between UWL Repository and ORCID.

In preparation for the next Research Excellence Framework, the University has published a Timeline to REF2021.

Quick Search  Advanced search

Latest Additions
Responsibility and availability

Cheap
Low maintenance
Benefits global communities
Human rights, ethics, and libraries